No More Beer on Carmel Beach— Police To Enforce Old Ordinance

Another old Carmel tradition died last night — eating abalone and drinking red wine on the beach could cost you 180 days in jail and a $500 fine. It's not the abalone; it's the wine, or any other intoxicant. Actually, the drinking of alcoholic beverages in public places has been illegal since before any of the present city officials can remember; but previous city councils have not told Carmel police to enforce Section 620 of the Municipal Code on the beach, allegedly because some councilmen didn't want to give up having a beer-by-the-sea. But litterbugs have left our beach in a deplorable condition, and usually the litterbugs are the ones who have beer parties, then simply get up and leave the mess behind.

In other matters, the new council in its first meeting:

Gave first reading to an ordinance adopting the 1962 uniform electrical code;

Agreed to pay Stone and Youngberg $2,500 from the Hostelry Tax Fund to pay for the financial study of the acquisition of Sunset School.

Voted, 4-1, to confirm the employment of two employees. Councilman Norberg asserted that he felt the division of function between the planning director and the building inspector suggests that the load on the building inspector's office might have been lessened rather than increased. It was pointed out that even with this division the department has been unable to keep up with the demands made upon it.

Expressed appreciation to Frank Putnam, Robert Spencer, and Eben Whittlesey for their service to the city. Councilman Whittlesey abstained from voting appreciation to himself, saying he felt that nothing the council might say could express appreciation more than 1,216 votes, referring to his overwhelming victory at the polls.

Accepted an agreement with Burde, Shaw and Associates for architectural services in connection with tthe development of a new police station and corporation yard. Councilman Norberg dissented.

Heard and accepted a report that the two public telephones placed on Ocean Avenue were used a great deal more than had been expected. Councilman Norberg again dissented.

Revised the portion of the Municipal Code which deals with rules and procedures of the council, specifically requiring councilmen to remain seated and to address all remarks to the chair.

Granted a request to enact an ordinance requiring the cleaning up of junk-filled lots, although Councilman Norberg declared he felt it was difficult to see how the police power may be used in a matter of aesthetics.

Referred to committee a proposal to limit the maximum site size for buildings in the business area of Carmel.

Agreed to send Carmel's writer-fireman, James Cardwell (otherwise known as "Adobe James") to a training workshop in Fresno.

Appointed Councilmen Grant and Norberg to report, if possible, by May 20, on a report by the Arts Commission that the Forest Theater was unsafe and practically unusable. The commission requests that $12,350 be budgeted next year to repair the facility and operate it properly.

Set a hearing on an appeal, by 22 electors, of a decision of the planning commission for 8:00 p.m. on May 20. This refers to a proposed development by Jack Miller on San Carlos and Eighth.

Council Objects To Area Plan

Carmel's City Council took exception last night to the Monterey Peninsula Area Plan's increase in density in areas surrounding the city, notably in the artichoke fields west of Highway One and in the mouth of the Valley.

Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (ret.) president of the Carmel Citizens Committee, concurred with a decision of the council to refer the plan to the Public Welfare Committee for scrutiny with various property owner groups of Carmel Valley, and feels they are adamant about retaining one-acre minimum zoning. It should be borne in mind, he added, that the Area Plan is an unadopted plan, sent to various Peninsula bodies for their suggestions and recommendations.

Glamor, Nostalgia, Etc., For Concours Car Buffs

With 18 classes and approximately 130 individual car entrants, the fourteenth annual Pebble Beach Invitational Concours d'Elegance to be held this Saturday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., promises intrigue for motor buffs and glamour as a spectacle of color and fashion.

The oldest car entered, in the Antique Group, will be M. L. Bud Cohn's 1905 Reo Roadster, coming from Los Angeles.

The Talbot Kendall Collection includes Renault, Bentley, MG and Rolls Royce gems, 1908 to 1951.

A fun class (K) is headed Special Interest Cars and includes beauties such as a 1926 Ford T Speedster "Bug"; a 1963 Interlagos Roadster and a 1922 Ford Market Delivery Truck.

The entire proceeds from the Concours will be given to the Community Hospital Auxiliary, responsible for many services to patients in the hospital. A group of Auxiliary members will model advance summer fashions on Saturday afternoon. Donation tickets of $1 each are being sold by Auxiliary members.

The Concours is held on the lawns of Del Monte Lodge.

Purloined Treasure Discovered In Valley Apple Orchard . . . Rescued

By Carolyn Elstob

Outcast and gone far astray as we went to press last Thursday, the Carmel Bulletin Board was saved from a sorry fate during last week-end.

Just imagine, if you were a bulletin board, noticed by everybody, loaded with colorful gossip for over half a century, flaunting your news in the very heart of Carmel—think what your feelings would be to find yourself in an apple orchard, surrounded by heaven knows what wild beasts in the dark of the night.

Well, how it really happened we citizens will probaby never really learn, though we surmise many versions of the kidnaping will be told around Carmel firesides. Fact is, the Bulletin Board was "kidnaped." It was taken to an apple orchard three miles up the Valley, and, following the hue and cry of grieving citizens, it was retrieved last Friday by Planning Director Floyd Adams.

Meanwhile, Carmel residents, real old-timers that is, beséiged the Pine Cone with anxious queries and their remembrances of the Board. We did a bit of researching ourselves, and right here, in our own files, we came upon a story by Carmel's Perry Newberry.

We quote from the Carmel Pine Cone, Feb. 1, 1935: "I was there, that day in Feb., 1915, when the first issue of the Carmel Pine Cone, smelling of printers' ink, came off the press. And; quite probably, I felt sore about it, and said that old Carmel was losing its traditions with the coming of a newspaper into its midst. Hadn't we managed to get along very well with Schwenenger's fence as our lost and found column and general advertising bill board, and with Leidig's grocery chalking up the latest news, together with its price list, on the corner blackboard . . . "

We don't know how long our Bulletin existed before 1915. But last week's perils really shook us, and from this day forward we hope to feel assured of its safety.

Mrs. Mary May Stemple again expressed her regrets that the board couldn't remain where it had been, on the corner of Dolores and Sixth, where she wanted it to stay.

We understand that not one, but a number of property owners in the village have offered the venerable treasure outdoor wall space.

Floyd Adams has accepted as the most accessible-to-all-spot the alcove south of Sam Colburn's bookshop, "The Book Worm," on Dolores between Fifth and Sixth. The property is owned by Mrs. Laura Lee, whose hospitality puts her at the top of our list. Sam Colburn is up there, too. He has promised to keep his eagle eye on the board, and to protect it from becoming tattered and windblown.

Date of the placement of the Bulletin Board in its new location has not yet been told, but be assured the Pine Cone will keep you informed. We understand our Planning Director is going to put on quite a show!

No. 54

There's still certain people who turn up their nose at anything young that appears; and act like ability's something that grows exclusively mossy with years;

Ignoring the fact that an egg must be new, and roses are sweetest when fresh; while no one is old and mature 'til he grew from the birth of a child in the flesh.

Admitting that wine must be aged in the cask, and whiskers turned white must be old; you need a strong arm when you tackle a task that needs a stout heart to be bold.

So, here's to the youngster who's willing and brave — who's eager to give of his best. It's wonderful how many steps I can save as he does the work, while I rest.

Fiesta de las Rosas Parade Saturday Morning At 10

With the historic adobes, 11 in all, beehives of preparation, the "Fiesta de las Rosas," to be held Saturday in Monterey, promises to be dramatically beautiful. History of the Peninsula's most picturesque period will be exquisitely reproduced.

With Mrs. Robert (Virginia) Stanton co-ordinating the table settings in each adobe, living models (members of the Monterey History and Art Association) will, in period costume, act as hostesses along the route.

Mrs. L. J. Hudson, heading the parade committee, announces that the marchers will assemble at El Cuartel adjoining the Monterey Fire House at 9:30 a.m. Saturday morning.

Mrs. Hudson particularly emphasizes that all horsemen and women as well as juvenile riders on the Peninsula are urged to participate. Children, whenever possible should be in Spanish or early American costume, adults too, when possible. When full regalia is not possible, a gay hat or sombrero will add color.

The Grand Parade will include a squad of motorcyclists; Sheriff Jack Davenport and his possee car-

DOWN TO THE SEA

BY LES BOSSHARDT, Master Mariner

"I must go down to the seas again,
To the lonely sea and the sky." — MASEFIELD

In and Out of The Weather

Last week was a busy one with wind ships coming and going. First there was the ketch Tangaroa's departure for the South Seas; then the arrival of Bruce Harris' beautiful schooner "Altura" from southern waters. This all took place the first part of the week. Wednesday a strange craft to this port lay to anchor off the east side of Wharf 2, hard by the pilot house. This one was a two-mast schooner of some 60 feet in overall length. She was painted white and her sides fairly sparkled in the morning sun. Probably came in under the press of a hard southerly wind and big sea to wait out a softening of this southerly weather. Our marina is ideally located along the coast for a boat making a southerly voyage in heavy southerly weather — a fine port of refuge. Before anyone could get her name she was on her way. It is good to have all of this boat activity at the marina. A few short years ago there was nothing like this movement of boats hereabout, and small interest in boats and boating in Monterey.

A VOYAGER RETURNS

Taylor Pillsbury of Pebble Beach has returned after a fine voyage to the Antipodes visiting many of the romantic South Sea islands enroute. Taylor and his wife Genevieve can be rated shellbacks of the realm of King Neptune by virtue of their crossing the line both going and coming. Taylor owns the 36-foot cabin cruiser "WIDGEON II" one of the ablest power boats in this area. Bet she looked very good to the skipper after his better than 17,000 mile jaunt in a big Matson liner.

A MOVE THE SOONER THE BETTER

Brooks Bowhay, the Marina's very able Harbor Master, is counting the days until he is settled in his new office space atop the new building that Art Beaudine is building on the west side of Wharf 2 at the marina. The present Harbor Master's office will be moved and the space it now occupies will be made into a parking space. Brooks has about as much privacy where he is now as has a goldfish in his bowl. Don't give up, shipmate.

A SON CARRIES ON

Dropped in on the Woodward Yacht Brokerage office on Fisherman's wharf a few days ago to say hello and gam a bit with Captain Bill Hastings. Bill was not there. The young man sitting at the desk looked sort of familiar to me. No wonder. This was Dick Woodward the son of the late Don Woodward, the founder of the agency that bears his name and one of the most highly regarded brokers on this coast. Dick's mother is Lillian Woodward, who is my favorite writer. She writes about all of those interesting goings on at Moss Landing. Well, Dick is selling boats from the Monterey side. He should be a good salesman with his background tied in with one of the best, his dad. Good luck Dick.

The lows with their rains have been dominant the first part of the week. They are welcome indeed. The weather pattern is such that we may expect a general clearing by Saturday and the week end should be clear with slightly higher temperatures and moderate winds hereabout.

NAUTICAL TID-BITS

How sure are you that your fire extinguishers are up to weight and are operational? Are you sure you know how to operate them? Better make sure. The boat you save may be your own.

Wind IN THE Pines

BY DON MARSHALL

I saw Thaddeus, the hairdresser, the other day going down Dolores with a small brown case.

I asked him what it was and he was evasive. I pressed him for an answer. He capitulated.

"Got to run," he said. "I'm on a house call."

I wonder if hairbenders are covered by Blue Cross on house calls.

The "marriage ceremony" for VAMP and the Convention Committee of the Chamber of Commerce was held Tuesday at the Mark Thomas Inn.

Bridesmaid for the event was Howard Bucquet and he was dry-eyed. I gather that everyone present felt the same way, since nary a tear fell. Perhaps now that the wedding has taken place the merged group can proceed more effectively toward its goal, better handling of visitors information about the Peninsula.

—o—

Ed Leslie, the leadfooted grandfather, must be quite a man. Last Sunday he poked the nose of his Ford Cobra out in front in the 100-mile manufacturer's race at Laguna Seca and was never headed.

Not bothering to take the time to be bussed by the beauteous Miss Laguna Seca or to take a victory lap around the track, he headed straight for the pits. There he had new tires put on the "Snake" and gassed up.

Back to the track he went for the 150-mile drivers point race. He roared around the track again like his car was on rails and finished fifth in that race.

What a man!

MPVS Thrift Shop Proceeds Listed

A request from Carmel Youth Center that net profits from the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services Thrift Shop, earned during the last two weeks of July be allotted to them, was approved at the MPVS general meeting last Friday. The profits earned during the month of June will be given to the Community Hospital for the purchase of technical equipment. Volunteer workers from the Youth Center as well as the hospital will work with the regular staff members of MPVS in the collection, marking and sale of merchandise.

As a result of this policy of coordinated work between organizations, Mrs. A. Boyd Mewborn, merchandise chairman of MPVS, presented a check in the amount of $2,524.65 to Mrs. Don Campbell, president of the Monterey Peninsula Council for the Children's Home Society. This sum represented profits earned at the shop during the month of April. The money will be used to enlarge their office and to add another worker to their staff.

Also approved was a donation of $500 to the Carmel Valley Community Center to defray the cost of fencing at the swimming pool. $192.00 was approved to cover the cost of janitorial services at the building housing the Alcoholism Council. Miss Ruth Blanchard, finance chairman, also read a letter of thanks from Gateway Center for a donation of $900 to cover the cost of tuition and training scholarships.

Members of MPVS were pleased to receive a certificate representing 800 "Friendship Shares" from Miss Elena Ribadeneyra of Quito, Ecuador. The certificate was given in acknowledgment of a $200 donation from MPVS. Mrs. Harry Graham, American Field Service representative introduced the foreign student who is attending Pacific Grove High School.

Mrs. Roland Scheffler, garden tour chairman, indicated that complete details regarding the 13th Annual Garden Tour to be held July 15, as well as tickets for $2.50, will be available at the June meeting of the organization. The meeting was adjourned at noon by the president, Mrs. Charles M. Jett.

Bishop Winfred H. Ziegler

Bishop Ziegler States Views On Ministry

The Rt. Rev. Winfred H. Ziegler, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Wyoming, Rt'd,, will perform the rites of confirmation at All Saints Episcopal Church next Sunday morning, May 17.

Gentle, humorous, interested in everything and everybody, a brilliant conversationalist and hospitable neighbor, the Bishop and Mrs. Ziegler have been residents of Carmel Highlands since 1947.

Born in Detroit, Michigan, in 1885, Bishop Ziegler grew up in 'churchly atmosphere.' His father as well as his two brothers were ministers and on graduation from Columbia University in 1911, Winfred was assigned his first parish in Alaska.

Through the years his churches continued to be in rugged territories. World War I found him in the role of U.S. Army chaplain on the Mexican border, and later at Camp Custer, Michigan.

It was 1936 that the far travelled minister was named Bishop of Wyoming and the record has it that for the following decade Bishop Ziegler rode hundreds of miles monthly on horseback. In recording his life in those days, a national publication stated, "Wyoming's Bishop has served in more log churches than cathedrals . . ."

A victim of arthritis, due to years of exposure to zero temperatures, Bishop Ziegler brought his family to Carmel Highlands '47. He retired officially in 1949.

Quipped one day by a friend about the 'easy sheltered life of a minister' Bishop Ziegler stated his view:

"I am ready to argue with anyone that the ministry is the most adventurous of all professions. A family doctor might equal it, perhaps, if he moved; but the doctor stays in one place. The minister is head of a considerable corporation with a board of directors meeting once a month and as much bookkeeping and advertising and clerical work as the moderate-sized dry goods store; all done, usually, without a single secretary. He manages a small opera troupe — all temperamental — with four rehearsals and eight performances a month. He is the head of a considerable school, all grades, kindergarten to high school, differing from other schools only in having but one session a week. He makes more calls than a young doctor. He receives more than a young lawyer. He is entertained and entertains more than an elderly society belle. He averages more speeches than a political orator, for he can always get the floor. He must start nothing unprofessional or his congregation gets rid of him; but he is called in to finish everything adventurous that other people start, from matrimony to murder. Battle, murder, sudden death are his element, both figuratively and literally. If he is worth his salt he becomes a hard-bitten Son of Thunder! And he must conceal all this under an outer garment of conventional formalism. Even his own family does not often realize that they are dealing with a desperado—for the things that make him so are other peoples' secrets, and must not be referred to even by the raising of an eyebrow . . ."

Carmel to Nuremburg . . . And Return

Black-haired, dark-eyed, smiling Barbara Cronin of "Nikko's" staff is being greeted on all sides by friends who want to know all about her visit to Germany.

Barbara is the daughter of Lt. Col. Robert Cronin and Mrs. Cronin. An army "brat" since her birth in Westfield, Mass., she has lived 'round the world.

"When I was a very little girl," Barbara told, "my father, who is a U.S. Army engineer, was stationed in La Rochelle, France, and I found it easier to say 'Oui, merci' than 'Yes, thank you.'

"During my recent visit in Germany I spent most of my time on the U.S. Army Post in Fuerth (that's really in Nuremburg) where my father is Post Engineer. I hadn't seen my family for a year and a half and we had a lot of catching up to do. My younger brothers Robert and Richard are attending the U.S. post school, but Kathy, the baby, is still too young.

"My father got me a job in the European Exchange System offices where with German and other American girls I worked in the Claims and Insurance department on dishonored checks that came in from all over Europe."

Barbara found the young German men and women friendly, well dressed, interested in world politics, but seemingly free of depression about their own country.

"They are much more serious than the boys and girls I know here," she said, "we went to the ballet and the opera very often, first, because their taste is like that and second (very important) the prices were within reach. It is too bad that young working men and women don't have the same opportunities here."

When asked if her German friends "went mad" about the Beatles, Barbara gave a strong negative answer. "And few of my age group had cars," she added. "The street car system is splendid and used by practically everybody..

There is no problem of alcoholism. Just nobody seems to drink spirits, of course the beers are wonderful, but the social meeting spots for people of all ages are the coffee houses."

Barbara flew from New York

with the army personnel and was met by her father in Weisbaden, but she returned on the U.S. Army transport "Upshur" to New York where relatives from New England met her.

"I had a wonderful visit — in Germany and in Massachusetts, but it is the greatest—to be back in Carmel and here at Nikko's. I love meeting people and I love the Carmel spirit of friendliness."

Barbara is attending Monterey Peninsula College and majoring in elementary education. "And best of all, I share an apartment, just two hops away from Nikko's, with Lenore Tripp, just about the most popular girl in Carmel!"

Week-End of Jovial Hospitality

With the Concours at Pebble Beach, the Music Festival at the Navy Postgraduate School slated for the weekend and Symphony with its after-concert reception on Tuesday the next five days and evenings promise a whirl.

Concours d'Elegance parties get off to a flying start tomorrow before sunset when the Richard Osbornes will hold a cocktail party honoring the Concours judges. Just about everybody at the Osbornes will go on to the Beach Club for dinner and dancing.

Dividing their time between the Cypress Point Club's annual invitational golf tournament and the Concours will be the John A. Vietors of San Francisco, houseguests of the Osbornes. Jack will compete on the golf course and he has entered his Jaguar in the Concours.

The R. Alexander Andersons of Honolulu will be the guests of Col. Allen Griffin, president of the Cypress Point Club.

The S .F. B. Morses, returned from Europe in time for the big weekend, will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Weikers, Jr., of New York and the Joseph Thomases of Long Island. Friends of the Morses staying at Del Monte Lodge will include Duke Ricardo di Sangro of Italy and the William McKnights of New York.

Rear Admiral Charles K. Bergin, superintendent of the U.S. Navy Postgraduate School and Mrs. Bergin will have dinner parties tomorrow and Saturday before the NPGS Festival concerts and a luncheon party on Sunday in advance of the matinee featuring Mary Costa.

OBITUARIES

Helen B. Levinson

For 37 years a resident of Carmel, Mrs. Helen Brunn Levinson died unexpectedly early Tuesday morning in her home at Monte Verde and 16th street.

Born in San Francisco, Sept. 16, 1887, Mrs. Levinson came here to make Carmel her home with the late Louis H. Levinson, in 1927.

Deeply interested in juvenile education she was for many years an active member of the Carmel Unified Schools Board.

Mrs. Levinson leaves two sons, Howard Brunn and Louis H. Levinson, both of Carmel and three grandchildren, David and Mark Brunn of Carmel and Robin Brunn of Big Sur.

Private services were held on Tuesday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Patrick Hood

Patrick Hood, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Hood, died shortly after birth last Tuesday in a local hospital. A Requiem service was conducted by the Rev. David Hill in All Saints' Episcopal Church yesterday. Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Jeanne D'Orge Cherry

Last Saturday evening, following a period of failing health the life of 87 years of contributing to the world of art and literature came to a close when Mrs. Carl Cherry, painter, writer and patron of the arts, succumbed to a brief final illness in her apartment in the far famed Cherry Foundation in Carmel.

Jeanne Cherry was born in Downisthorpe, England, Nov. 22, 1877. She grew up and had her schooling in the British Isles, coming to the United States in 1906, the bride of Alfred Burton, Dean of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A brilliant hostess, her home on Beacon Hill was a meeting place for artists, musicians, writers and it was during that period that she wrote her still popular children's books and poetry, winning nationwide critical acclaim.

It was in the early 20's, that she came to Carmel, gathering a host of intellectuals of the area about her.

In 1930 Jeanne O'Orage Burton married inventor Carl Cherry to whom the Foundation on Mission street was dedicated, following his death in 1946.

Through the late '40's and early '50's the Foundation was crowded with youthful and talented artists in all fields. It was during that period that Mrs. Cherry produced her paintings and was persuaded to give a one-man show in San Francisco's DeYoung Museum.

In recent years Mrs. Cherry has lived in Carmel Valley with her chief interest the Tantamount Theater. Up to the last her charm pervaded the Green Room receptions an opening nights of Tantamount Theater productions.

Mrs. Cherry leaves two daughters and a son, five grandchildren and one great-grandson, all on the east coast. Committal took place in Shady Grove Cemetery, Gloucester, Mass.

William H. Satchell

William Herbert Satchell, a resident of Carmel since 1944 succumbed to a brief illness in a local hospital last Monday.

Mr. Satchell was born in London, England, Jan. 12, 1887. For many years he was an active and popular figure in Carmel civic affairs and held the position of secretary and manager of the Sanitary District.

Mr. Satchell is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emma V. Satchell, a son, William Hobart Satchell of Carmel, a sister, Mrs. May A. Nay of Reno, Nev., and four grandchildren.

Mr. Satchell was a member of All Saints Episcopal Church. Services will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock by the Rev. David Hill in the Little Chapel by the Sea with inurnment following. Arrangements are in charge of Paul Mortuary.

'Maya Through the Ages' Film Showing Tonight

The American Federation of Arts is sponsoring a film, "The Maya Through the Ages," this evening at 8:30, at gallery headquarters. Giles Healey, anthropologist, author, and photographer of the film will answer questions after the screening.

Healey first discovered the ruins of the Mayan city, Bonampak, in 1946. The word, Bonampak, means painted walls. The original name of the city is unknown. Its famous murals were painted during the earliest Maya Empire, (320-987 A.D.).

The film covers the whole Mayan region, its ruins, ceramics and textiles, and glimpses of its present inhabitants. Healey's articles about the area have appeared in "Archaeology" and "Life" magazines.

There will be a $1.00 charge for members, $1.50 for non-members.

Pine Cone Poets Win Six Out of Nine Prize Awards

In last week's Pine Cone, announcement was made of the first-prize winner in the Schuster-Price-Burroughs Newspaper Verse Contest of April, 1964, wherein Poet Gertrude May Lutz of Palo Alto was awarded top honors. Miss Lutz' poem, "Sequoia," appeared in the July 18, 1963, issue of this newspaper.

Now comes the full list of prize winners from the official bulletin of the Ina Coolbrith Circle of the Chapparal Poets of California, in which is listed all nine successful entrants. Out of the nine, six had been published in The Pine Cone. Second prize went to B. Jo Kinnick of Piedmont, for her poem "To A Son Graduating," which appeared Dec. 19, 1963. First Hon. Mention went to Alice Moore Regan of San Francisco for her "Union Square (May 9, 1963); 3rd Hon Men. was awarded Fayette Mills Couzens of Santa Cruz for "Discovery;" 4th Hon. Men. to Mary Child of Berkeley for "Early Morning," and 6th Honorable Mention went to Nell Griffith Wilson of Kenwood, Calif., for "So Still My Heart" (Pine Cone of Nov. 14, 1963.

The winner of third prize had been published in the Independent Journal, San Rafael; the 5th Hon. Men. was for a poem published in the Fullerton News-Tribune.

The judges in the contest consisted of prominent writers and educators: Irene Gibbs, chairman, has taught very successful classes in Poetry Writing and Poetry Appreciation in Adult Education Schools, and is now giving a course in Appreciation of Modern Poetry at the Berkeley City Club. Elma Dean is perhaps one of the most widely-published poets in the Bay Area and has many poems in all the better magazines and anthologies. Lida Pringle Stussie has taken a leading part in organizing and conducting poetry contests for young people. She is a past president of the Ina Coolbrith Circle, member and officer of Chapparal Poets, past chairman of the Writers' Section of American Penwomen, Berkeley Chapter; member of Pacific Coast Women's Press Association, and author of a book of poems, "Horizons to Westward."

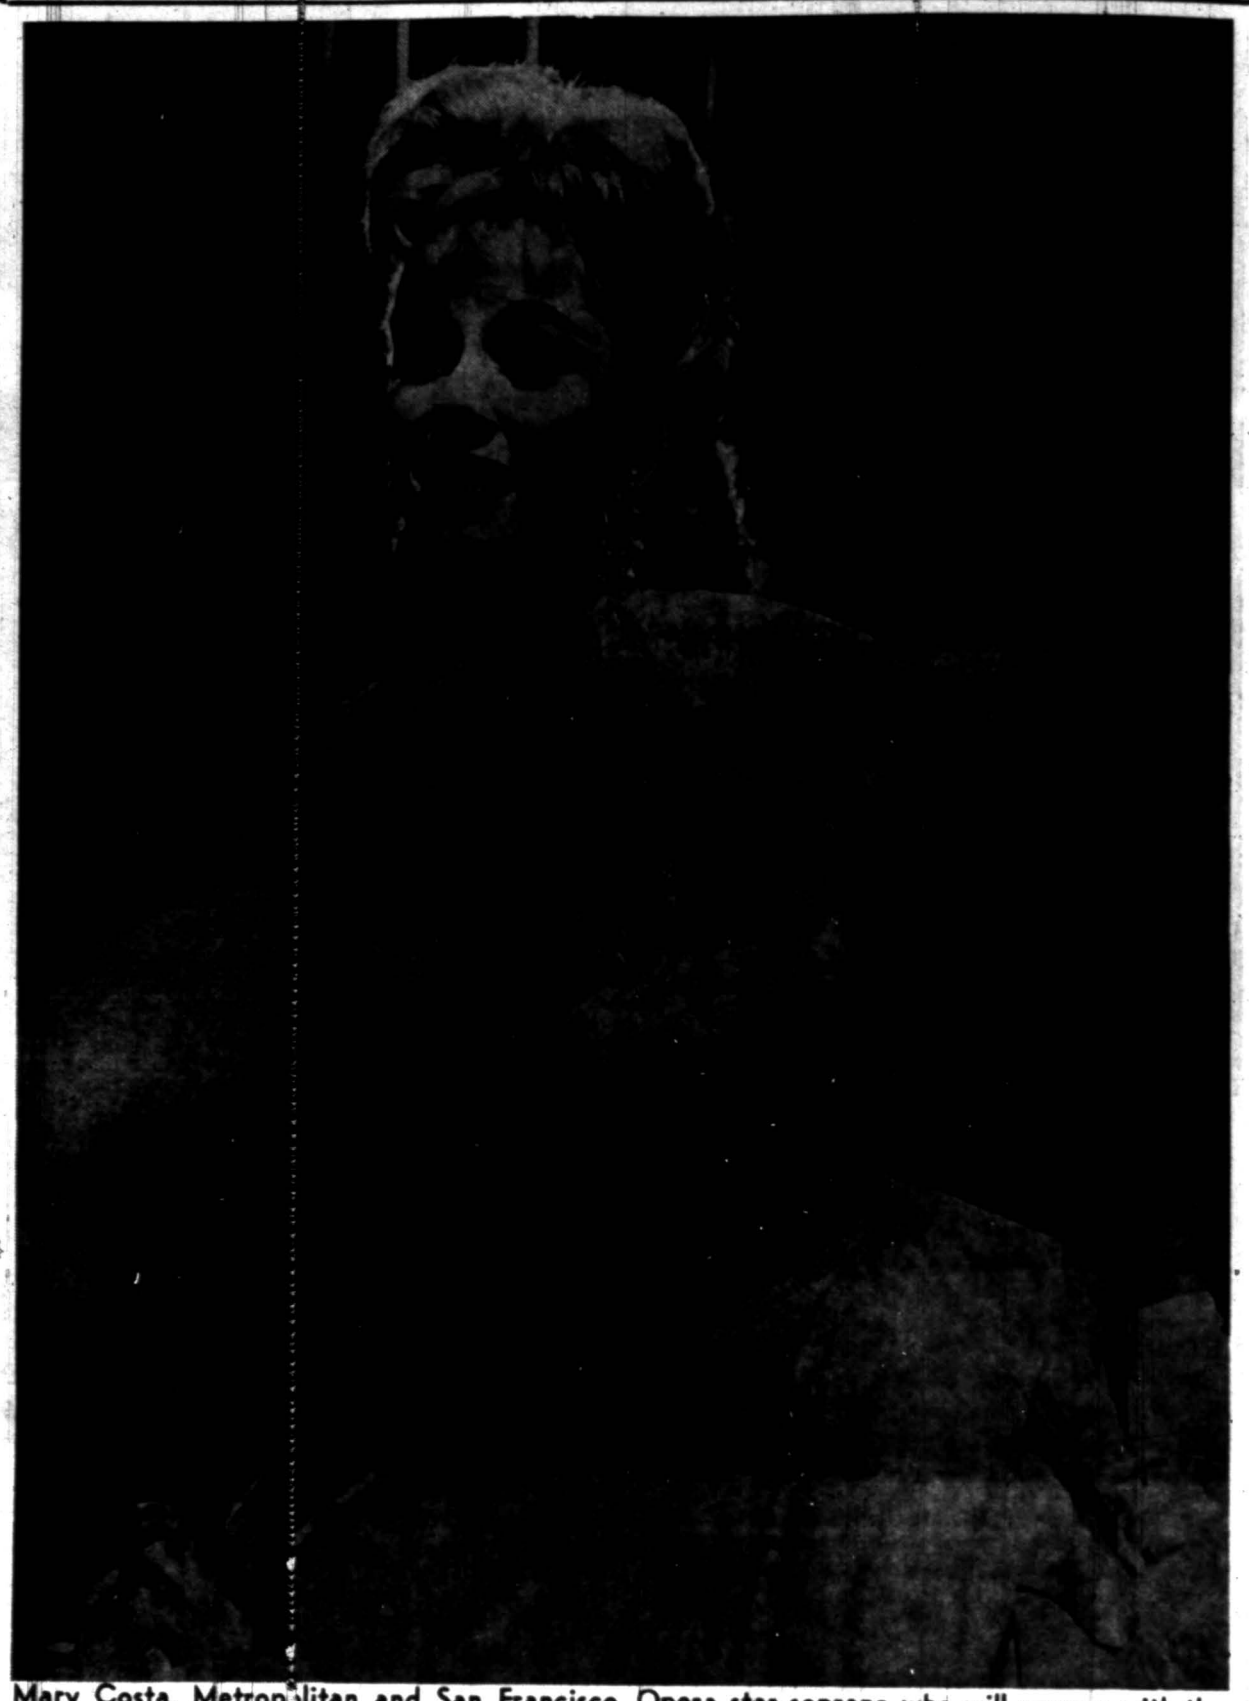
Arts and Literature

REVIEWED BY HARRY WELLESLEY FLETCHER



Mary Costa, Metropolitan and San Francisco Opera star soprano who will appear with the California Youth Symphony Orchestra in the Sunday afternoon concert, climaxing the U.S.N.P.G.S. three-day Festival of Music to be held in the School's amphitheater in Monterey this weekend.

Music Festival at USN PG School this Weekend

Stars will shine for the 3-day weekend Music Festival at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School opening tomorrow night with what promises to be a gala performance by the San Francisco Ballet with full orchestra.

Roger Williams, "Mr. Piano" and his company will appear in the open-air amphitheatre on Saturday evening.

Williams, whose Kapp Record sales — over six million albums and 13 million singles — are greater than those of any instrumentalist in history, will offer a program of music ranging from the classics to the current musical trend, along with show tunes and satire. He will also trace the history of popular piano playing in the styles of the greats in the field — Art Tatum, Carmen Cavallaro, Eddie Duchin, and other greats.

Climaxing the Festival will be the appearance of the Metropolitan and San Francisco opera star Mary Costa on Sunday afternoon with the 110-piece California Youth Symphony.

Considered by many critics the greatest soprano of our day, Miss Costa will sing arias from Carmen, La Traviata, Mignon, Pagliacci, and La Wally.

The Youth Orchestra, a parent-sponsored, non-profit association, composed of Bay Area musicians, 11 to 18 years of age, has performed in Japan and in 10 major cities in the United States. On Sunday afternoon they will perform Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 3, and Overture to The Magic Flute.

All tickets are fully tax deductible as donations to Navy Relief, and are on sale in the Navy Exchange Building; the Post Graduate School; ABC Music Center, Monterey; The Central Box Office, Carmel; and the Downtown Box Office, San Francisco. (Additional picture on Page Five.)

Piano Teacher-Lecturer In Free Concert At MPC

Johana Harris, a pianist known for the warm rapport she develops with her audiences through her unique "lecture-recital" technique, will appear in concert in the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall Friday, May 15, at 8:30 p.m.

The public is invited by the MPC Music Department to attend without charge.

Mrs. Harris, wife of the noted composer, Roy Harris, recently gave a San Francisco performance, with cellist James Starker, of "Sonata for Cello and Piano," a new work written by Harris for the occasion.

A frequent concertizer, she appeared before an invited audience at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club two years ago. Currently she is a faculty member as "artist in residence" at the University of the Pacific.

During the day of her MPC concert, Mrs. Harris will perform for classes in music literature at the college.

Miss Angie Machado, faculty member who invited Mrs. Harris to appear here, urges Peninsula music teachers and students to attend the concert. The artist will be free for questions and discussions following her performance.

MAGIC VALLEY

Though far from hearth and wistful — still
A boy may dream of one lone hill.

The meadowlark is like a chime
That sings him back to boyhood's time.

He sees a Magic Valley rimmed
By world-roofed mountains, forest trimmed.

He hears the weir-marked waters whisper
Of watercress, but cooler, crisper,

Like dawns that startle one from sleep
Or mystery stars that wink and peep.

This cradleland breeds a boy to ride
A skyline trail with the sun for guide.

EMMA CROBAUGH
High Point, North Carolina.

IMAGERY

Sometimes the sunset reminds one of the glowing, golden, ruby coat the desert wraps quite snugly round its parched but quickly cooling throat each day at dusk, then colors fade.
The moon will paint light shadows on the wealth of wanton, drifting sand and fascinate a covey of clouds that dance an intricate saraband.
Then night glissades upon the sands,
the planes dart through the star-trimmed skies, and the moon is wearing tulle-like strands of clouds that drape her, crescent-wise.

NONEE NOLAN
Elsinore, California.

SANDSTORM

We look far in advance of our coming —
— into rolling, tumbling clouds which seen to be smoke
but are whirlwinds of sand cupped by some unseen hand — — spilled along a ten, — twenty mile route.

We pass through the full blast
It is as though a thick veiled curtain were suddenly dropped over us:
One hangs on to the steering gear and prays to be guided through two minutes of sand blackout . . .

CASSELL APGAR BUSH

OLD MAN

His life is moving toward the silent hour.
The road is rough. The light begins to wane.
Again his hopes of youth burst into flower.
He leans his years upon his memories' cane.

Austin, Texas.

LOVELY CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

Lovely Carmel-by-the-Sea:
Wisp of Summer — Winter's breath,
Gentle muse of poetry,
Verdant Life — untouched by death.

Lovely Carmel-by-the-Sea:
Intertwined with music's strand,
Driftwood carvings, — jewelry,
Paintings of a brilliant land.

Lovely Carmel-by-the-Sea:
Pounding waves upon the shore,
Ballet dancer — Cypress tree,
Foghorn — eerie — seagulls soar.

Lovely Carmel-by-the-Sea:
Youthful dreams — mature delight,
Faith deep-rooted — Heaven's key,
Whispered wind-songs in the night.

Lovely Carmel-by-the-Sea;
Up and down your hills I roam,
Clothed in fog-mist — reverie,
Arms outstretched — I have come!

Brahms' German Requiem To End Symphony Season

One of the greatest masterpieces in the choral literature, Brahms' "A German Requiem" has been selected by conductor John Gosling to conclude the current Monterey County Symphony Season.

The performances, which will take place in the Salinas High School Auditorium Monday evening, and in Carmel's Sunset Auditorium Tuesday evening, will feature soloists Sylvia Davis, soprano, and the Rev. Paul Baird, baritone, as well as the combined voices of the Monterey Peninsula College Community Chorus and the Hartnell-Community Chorus.

Miss Davis who appeared recently in a song recital at MPC has also been in demand as a soloist in the San Francisco Bay area. She has appeared there in numerous Opera Talent Bank performances. She was one of the few west coast singers selected to participate in the Boris Goldowsky Opera Workshop last summer, and this spring she became one of the finalists in the 1964 Metropolitan Auditions. Last year she appeared as soloist with the Monterey County Symphony in a performance of Honegger's "King David."

The Rev. Paul Baird, who has performed extensively in local music and religious circles for the past seven years, received his master's degree in sacred music while studying for the ministry at the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo. During that time he studied voice with Dr. John Milton Kelly, and appeared as soloist with the seminary choir in numerous west coast performances of major oratorios. Since that time he has sung on radio programs in a variety of western states and more recently has appeared as a soloist with the San Francisco Bach Choir. Solo performances of the "Messiah" at Fresno State College, and the Bach "Christmas Oratorio" with the Monterey Symphony Chamber Orchestra, and the Monterey Peninsula College Community Chorus are among his most recent accomplishments.

Tickets for the Carmel performance are in short supply, and Symphony officials request that season ticket holders who may be unable to attend, turn in their tickets so that the Symphony may benefit from resale. For additional information call Symphony Headquarters, 624-4125. See picture on Page Five.

J. F. Kennedy Memorial Fund Benefit May 12

Three well-known folk artists, Joe and Eddie, popular young vocal duo, and Stan Wilson, singer, guitarist and composed, will appear in concert May 16 in the Monterey Peninsula College football stadium.

Sponsored by the MPC Associated Students as a benefit for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Student Loan Fund, the concert will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets, priced at $1.50, $2 and $2.50, are on sale in the college administration building and at Abinante's Music Store, in Monterey.

Though only 21, Joe Gilbert and Eddie Brown have become polished performers since they began to sing together eight years ago at Willard Junior High School, Berkeley. After singing at fraternity and sorority parties at the University of California, they appeared on Don Sherwood's television show in San Francisco. Engagements followed at The Purple Onion and the hungry i, where they were an instantaneous success.

Since then they have gained national recognition by appearances on NBC's "Tonight" show, "The Lively Ones," ABC's "Hootenanny" and the Jackie Gleason Show. Early this year Danny Kaye signed them for six shows.

Joe and Eddie record releases include "There's A Meeting Here Tonight," "Joe and Eddie," and "Joe and Eddie Coast to Coast."

Stan Wilson has built a loyal group of fans through appearances at San Francisco's hungry i, and New York's Blue Angel during the past several years. His concerts at colleges and universities -- University of San Francisco, University of Washington, University of Oregon, Stanford University, California State Polytechnic, and San Jose State, led to his Fantasy album, "Stan Wilson Goes To College," which was cut live at San Jose State.

Wilson wrote "Rolling Stone," made popular by the Kingston Trio, and "Jane, Jane, Jane," another Kingston number. As a singer, he has been called "a natural balladeer."

It's Be Kind To Animals Week

Open Letter:

We, your pets, would like to thank our families and friends on the Monterey Peninsula for honoring us on this "Be Kind to Animals" Week. We'll do our best for you the other 51 weeks of the year. With vacation time coming up, we have a few suggestions to help us do just that. If you're planning on taking us with you on a trip, check our rabies shots as we'll be meeting a lot of strangers. If we've never traveled by car before, take us for short rides to test for nervousness and possible carsickness. When we are left in the car be sure there is cross ventilation. In the summer an adequate fresh water supply is very important to us anywhere at all times. Please keep an eye on us in such places as forest, desert and farm lands. Many of the animals there will be as strange to us as we will be to them and we know you don't want anyone to get hurt and spoil your fun.

NOTICE

The exhibit of the art of Gerald Wasserman, at the Community Room of El Rancho Shopping Center, has been extended to run through this week-end, it has been announced.

Architects Assoc. Views Unincorporated Area

Carmel architect and member of the Carmel Planning Commission, George Willox, A.I.A., at a meeting with his fellow American Institute of Architects' members, voiced his concern over the areas which are outside of the Carmel city limits but influence the future of the city.

Willox expressed his opinion that the development of these adjacent areas might be guided in a direction favorable to Carmel by the Monterey Peninsula Area Plan which is now under study by a group of architects. This study group will report its findings and recommend action to the A. I. A.

Gordon Hall presented the final area plan which is now being considered by the Area Planning Commission and 14 other public bodies, at a meeting of the Monterey Bay Chapter of the A.I.A. last week. Chapter president George Rhoda initiated the study group by noting that the Area Plan had been evolved through much careful thought and research, and required careful examination for complete comprehension.

LAW IN ACTION

PRIVATE USED CARS SALES

In two car families, often a used car is bought. It may be cheaper and sometimes there may be a sales tax savings.

Regarding sales tax savings, the legislature recently plugged one loophole when you buy from private parties. The Department of Motor Vehicles may ask you to pay a use tax of 4 per cent which in the past you did not have to pay. You cannot register to drive on our highways unless you pay the use tax on the car in those circumstances.

There are some exceptions to this 4 per cent use tax. For example, if the seller has not sold another car within the past year, and will sign a form saying so, no use tax will be charged. Otherwise the law treats him just as if you were buying the car from a dealer: you pay the tax.

You may have to pay the tax and ask for a refund later. You may qualify for a tax exemption also if you belong to the armed forces on station here temporarily, or if you will not use the car in California.

Sensible.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

Big Sur Lodge at Pfeiffer State Park, Big Sur, opened last week for the summer season. For the present (until school vacation and until the busy camping and tourist season begins within the Park) the Lodge, with its dining room, coffee shop, gift shop, general store and hotel, motel accommodations, will operate on a limited schedule. Again this year the concession will be operated by W. H. Raymond of Pacific Grove.

This marks the 28th year of Mr. Raymond's operation of the Lodge and its attendant facilities, situated at the entrance gate to the State Park. The massive redwood building, with its pleasant lobby dominated by a huge stone fireplace, and the dining room and decks overlooking the Big Sur River, was built in 1950. Four years before that time the original lodge was destroyed by fire. It was originally built in 1937 and opened in June of that year, at the time the Pfeiffer State Park was dedicated and given to the State of California. That month, too, marked the official opening of the $10,000,000 highway, the now-famed Highway One.

Manager of Big Sur Lodge for the 1964 season is Arthur O'Donnell. Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell are recently from Los Angeles, where they had the concession at El Rancho Golf Club. Raymond and O'Donnell have been friends for many years. Their friendship deepened during a camping trip to Yosemite in 1920. Later they operated, together, the concession at Richardson Grove Redwood State Park, on the well-publicized Redwood Highway in Northern California. O'Donnell brings to the management of the Lodge a long experience, havinb been associated with the Currie Company, the Matson Line, and the Mark Hopkins Hotel, San Francisco.

A busload of baseball fans will leave Big Sur tomorrow afternoon at 3:30, and 12 hours later (3:30 a.m.) will return to Big Sur after having attended the big Giant's-Dodgers game at Candlestick Park, San Francisco. For the past three years, Hugh Fleenor, an ardent baseball fan, has been arranging these twice-yearly, chartered Greyhound Bus trips to Candlestick Park to see these rival teams play. Among the 38 Big Surites will be a number of high school students. En route home, the fans will stop in Gilroy for a late evening supper.

With the opening of trout season this past week-end, there were large numbers of sportsmen, hikers and campers in the Los Padres National Forest, particularly in the area of Big Sur, according to Stephen J. Goetz, Senior Fire Crew Foreman at the Guard Station of the United States Forest Service, Big Sur. Goetz gives a word of caution to those using the popular Pine Ridge Trail during the next few weeks, for in the section just above Barlow Flats there is blasting and trail work in progress. This week the crew completed a re-route from the Pine Ridge Trail leading down to Ventana Camp. Within the next few weeks the regular work in the back country, maintaining and improving trails and camps, "beetle control," and many other projects, will end for the season, and the personnel at All women are invited to attend and may make reservations by calling Mrs. James Grooms at 372-3198. A free baby nursery will be provided at the United Presbyterian Church, 830 Padre Drive, in Salinas.

Many People Give Willing Assistance Just To Find Rightful Owners of Lost Poodle

BY ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

It is because there are gentle people, with warm hearts, that a white, toy poodle is again at its home with those who love it. The warmhearted people are members of the Highway Patrol, the Pacific Telephone Company, and residents of Carmel, Big Sur and Encino, California.

It happened like this: On Monday, April 27, motorists traveling south of Carmel "about 40 miles," saw a little, white poodle by the roadside. They picked it up and continued their trip south. Upon arrival in the Los Angeles area, they left the poodle (and another dog, a fox terrier they had also found) in the care of Mrs. Sally B. Moody of Animal Allies, Anti-Vivisection Association, Inc., in Encino, north of Los Angeles. (Mrs. Moody is widely known for her life time work of caring for and protecting lost, strayed, and mis-treated animals.)

Immediately, Animal Allies sent a letter to Countess Kinnoull, whom they knew would make every effort to locate the little dog's owner. As soon as the letter was received, late last week, the Countess called the Highway Patrol, both in Monterey and Salinas, asking their assistance in locating the pet's owner. (The reason for phoning the Highway Patrol was that the letter had stated hat the dog was found soon after the motorists had passed the scene of an accident, and they thought the "lost" dog might have belonged to one of the occupants.) After a careful checking of their reports, etc., and with regret that they could not be of further help, they called the Countess of Kinnoull and wished her success in locating the dog's master.

At this point, it was deduced, the poodle must have been picked up from a point south of Carmel on Highway One, and the Countess telephoned Mrs. Margaret Lial of Big Sur for help in the search. At the moment of the phone call, Mrs. Lial (owner of three poodles and well known in Big Sur for her helpfulness) was at the mailbox. Someone took the telephone message for her. Upon her return to the house, she received the written message and she had with her a typewritten note she had just picked up from the mail box. That note read:

LOST: Toy white poodle from vicinity of Deetjen's Big Sur Inn. He was last seen near the Coast Gallery about 1:00 Monday afternoon, April 27. He goes by the name of Kennedy, and belongs to Sue and Jim Wood, and we miss him so much. Please contact Deetjen's if you know of his whereaboufs. Reward. Phone 2591."

At once Mrs. Lial was at the telephone calling Deetjen's Big Sur Inn, and talked with the manager, Mrs. Edith O'Ryan. Sue and Jim Wood were not there then, but Mrs. Lial knew that it was possible Jim Wood would be at the Big Sur Hot Springs Lodge. And he was!

Almost immediately after Sue and Jim received the good news of the loved little poodle,they were in their automobile driving to Encino to pick up the dog.

Late in the afternoon, last Saturday, they returned to Big Sur, grateful and happy. Immediately they went to Margaret Lial's home to express their appreciation for her help, for the help of each one who had taken time from their busy lives to assist in the return of their loved little poodle.

The SUR COAST

By Elizabeth Fuller Jones

the Guard Station will begin their intensive training for their summer fire crew work — a task that means around-the-clock alert to protect your national forest and environs.

Residents, commuters, travelers along the coast highway, particularly from the Carmel Highlands area south to Palo Colorado Canyon, have noted with interest tremendous reels of cable placed at intervals along the roadside. On weekdays, and a Sunday, too, men and equipment from the Pacific Telephone Company have been busy installing this cable on the existing utility poles. This present activity is necessary to meet the demands for telephone service in this coastal area. According to past figures, present use and forecast for the future, the aerial cable now being installed at an estimated cost of $73,400, should supply demand for the next 10-year period, according to E. D. Mueller, of the Engineering-Construction Division of Pacific Telephone in Salinas. "But why," we ask, "could not the cables be put underground and not on poles to mar the beauty of the countryside?"

"Comprehensive studies show that an underground installation in such areas would be prohibitive," Mueller said, "there is the problem of large areas of solid rock to go through, the frequent re-alignment of the highway, a very rugged terrain and many other factors that make the use of the aerial cable necessary in this normal evolution in telephone service."

Buster Keaton Film at MPC Tomorrow Night

"The Navigator," 1927 Buster Keaton film classic, will be shown tomorrow night at 7 and 9 o'clock in the Monterey Peninsula College music hall.

Free tickets for either performance may be picked up at the college administration building switchboard day or evening, according to MPC Evening Division Dean John G. Schaub. There will also be some available at the music hall door on the evening of the screenings.

In describing "The Navigator," the UCLA Committee on Fine Arts has said it is "in many ways the most subtle and contemporary of Keaton's masterpieces . . . rightly considered to be a part of 'the permanent cinema.'"

As in other Keaton films, it uses "sight gags . . . to bring out the absurdity of things, people's actions, the preposterous situations characters get into and have to escape.

With it will be shown a short, "The Little Match Girl."

C H S Girls In Record At Catalina Playday

Several Carmel girls competed in the recent Playday held at Santa Catalina School. The event included tennis, swimming, and diving. In tennis, Carmel was represented by Terri Stier and Debbie Smith (doubles) who took second place, and Judi Issenberger (singles) who claimed another second place ribbon.

In swimming, two pool records were set. Marilyn Lane swam the fastest 20-yard freestyle ever recorded at the Catalina pool. The Carmel freestyle relay team consisting of Marilyn Lane, Anne Hirschi, Jean Tweedie, and Jeremy Harrison, set another pool record in the 160-yard freestyle relay.

Outstanding swimming performances were turned in by Marilyn Lane (three firsts), Anne Hirschi (three firsts), Jean Tweedie (three firsts), and Jeremy Harrison (two firsts). A second place ribbon was claimed by Melody Prine. Third place recognition went to Stevie Ager, Kathy Streeton, and Kathy Guy.

Again in diving, Carmel girls were way out ahead with first and second places taken by Barbara Hudson and Kathy Bingham respectively, in an excellent diving exhibition.

Santa Catalina hopes to hold this Peninsula - wide invitational Playday again next year.

PADRE PATTER

by Mary Hurn

As graduation time approaches, seniors are getting busier and busier at CHS. Since last week, the seniors have been attending to the renting of their caps and gowns—measurements are taken during lunch hours. Susie Rennels is chairman of the cap and gown committee this year. Other members of her committee are Martha Campbell, Daphne Dennis, Jo Ann Dickens, Willa Gerber, Chris Hatton, Kristine Johnson, Phyllis Pilone, and Sue Sparollini.

The top ten per cent of the senior class has also been announced. Congratulations go to Stephanie Ager, Stephen Arnon, Carlin Arriola, Chris Bingham, Suzanne Byrne, Martha Campbell, Robert Cater, Lolita Concepcion, Daphne Dennis, John Graham, Enborg Halle, Mary Hurn, Steve Johnson, Richard Johnson, Jim Purvis, Susie Rennels, Martha Roberts, Susanna Scuitto, Larry Sheingold, Gary Silva, Andrew Smith, Richard Whitelaw, and Ken Wiese.

Seniors have also been very busy working on the senior play, "The Mouse That Roared." The play will be presented on May 15, 16, at Sunset Auditorium. The play is being directed by Mrs. Alexander. Fran Kibbler and Laddy Kratsky are the leading players. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m., and there will be no reserved seats. Tickets are $1.00 for adults, 75 cents for students who have no student body card, and 50c for students with a student body card.

We all hope everyone will come to the play and support the senior class of Carmel Union High School.

Carmel Red Cross Always in Action

Executive secretary Dorothy James, of Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross, reports the sum of $24,316 received as the result of the recent Red Cross Drive. "Now it's all over but the hard part," Miss James warns her workers. "The Fund objective demands $3,000 more. Let us get that, and call this year's drive fait accompli."

The Gray Lady luncheon, held yesterday at Highlands Inn, included chapters from Watsonville, Salinas, and Carmel, with Watsonville members hosting, and Carmel Chapter's Mrs. Van Court Warren chairman.

The month of May is Cookie Month, and the Carmel Chapter's quota is 100 dozen cookies each week for Fort Ord Hospital's soldier patients. Mrs. Donald B. Walker, of the hospital council, urges Carmel friends to get out their cookie sheets, light up their ovens and help bring a touch of home to the convalescents.

While the new volunteers, trained last month, are all working with a will, more Gray Ladies are needed. Chief Nurse Lt. Col. Leda Jelinck at the Fort Ord Army Hospital is planning to introduce a new kind of service for which Gray Ladies would be eligible.

All information regarding Gray Lady eligibility, training duties, etc., may be had by calling the Carmel Chapter House, 624-6455.

rying the colors; Manuel Campos and his Troubadors; Mayor George Clemens and Mrs. Clemens; President of the History and Art Association Edwin Bliss and Mrs. Bliss; Senor Adolpho Dominguez, Consul General of Mexico, and Senora Dominguez. There will be a group of Pisanos, representing the populace. The donkey, belonging to Mrs. Donald Hays of Carmel, will have as his mount the Hays' Fighting Cock. Riders from the Hudson Rancho Pt. Lobos will be young Sue, Sally and Alec Hale. The Carmel Valley Horsemen and Circle M Club will ride in formation.

The parade will start promptly at 10 a.m. at Alvarado and Polk streets.

Those touring the adobes, which will be on view from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., may start at any point they wish. Tea will be seved at the Casa Serrano during the afternoon. Tickets may be purchased tomorrow at Casa Serrano from 12:30 noon to 2:30 p.m., or at any adobe on Saturday. Free parking will be available to tourists adjacent to the Casa Serrano. Women are urgently requested to wear flat or broad-heeled shoes as spike heels are injurious to the ancient and precious adobe floors.

Dick Ogden Will Serve With The Peace Corps in South America

Carmel's Dick Ogden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murle Ogden, graduate of Carmel High School in the class of '56, and Utah State University, Dec., 1963, has successfully completed the rigid ten-week course held in Los Angeles, and is now a member of the Peace Corps. Dick, a sports enthusiast since early boyhood, and a CHS football star, was for a time a student counselor in sports at Robert Louis Stevenson School. Not too sure of his ultimate aim in life, he attended Monterey Peninsula College.

Three years ago Dick made a spectacular trip across Europe on a Vespa, spending many months on a kibitz in Israel. Working, playing and learning with the youth there, Dick made many friends for his homeland as well as for himself.

Upon his return to Carmel, Dick registered at Santa Ana College. Still not satisfied, the young man finally found himself on the campus of Utah State University where he won his diploma last December.

For the past five months Dick has been "polishing" his Spanish as he had already been informed, as a candidate, that he would probably be sent by the Peace Corps to a Spanish speaking country.

Flying to New York today, with a stop in Utah to say hello and goodbye to friends still on the campus there; and a pause on the East coast for a "look at the Fair," Dick will enplane for Caracas, Venezuala, the key city in that country for the Peace Corps.

"There are ten cities down there where the Corps functions, and I don't know just where I'll be sent," Dick told the Pine Cone. "But, wherever I'm ordered to go, I'll be there for the next two years! My parents may not be too cheery about the time element, but, as for me, I'll be training boys and young men in sports programs under the auspices of the American YMCA, and life looks wonderful!"

NPGS Hosts Science Symposium May 13-15

The U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, California, will host the Eighth Navy Science Symposium on May 13, 14 and 15. Approximately 400 delegates are expected to attend the symposium which is sponsored by the Office of Naval Research, Washington D.C. The initial session will be unclassified with subsequent sessions classified.

This years theme is "Automation and the Navy". The symposiums purpose is to emphasize research being conducted in the Navy Laboratories that is related to this theme. A primary function of these conferences is to continue the internal improvement of the Navy's scientific programs.

Typical examples of the automation theme are: Satellite data processing and analysis; Strategic and tactical comman dand control; Human engineering and displays and scientific data processing and analysis.

Guest speakers will include: United States Congressman George P. Miller, chairman of the House Committee for Science and Astronautics; Rear Adm. Charles K. Bergin, USN, Superintendent of the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School; Rear Adm. Edward A. Ruckner, USN, Deputy Chief of Naval Material, Development, Navy Department; Rear Adm. Leonidas D. Coates, USN, Chief of Naval Research, Washington, D.C. and Dr. F. Joachim Weyl, Deputy Chief and Chief Scientist of the Office of Naval Research.

Sunset Committee To Be Formed

The development of Sunset School as a cultural and community center took another step forward last night when the city council decided to appoint a committee for planning the development.

The committee will be composed of representatives from the city council, planning commission, arts commission, library board, citizens committee, service clubs and citizens at large. It will be charged with the duty of devising measures for effecting the center, examining possible uses, scutinizing the feasability of utilizing the present structures on the site, and making recommendations on fiscal matters.

The committee will have four months to make these studies, using such devices as public hearings to obtain the best thinking of interested citizens. It will be expected to report to the council from time to time, and make the final report by September 15.

Mayor Herb Blanks said this morning that announcement of appointments to the committee may be expected within a fortnight.

Sacred Rose Garden at Old Mission San Antonio, Jolon, (near King City). One of the outstanding rose gardens in California, with 520 rosebushes and 37 varieties.

Free Roses Sunday At Mission San Antonio

This Sunday, at Old Mission San Antonio, near Jolon in Monterey County, hundreds of roses from the bushes in the Sacred Garden will be given free to visitors to the Mission's Annual Rose Bloom Festival.

Each year, the Padres share with visitors the bounty of their cloister rose garden. Thirty-seven varieties grace the garden, and 520 rosebushes make it one of the outstanding rose gardens in California. Every bush is labeled, and a chart lists the variety and location.

Mission San Antonio is regarded as one of California's major historical landmarks. It lies in an unspoiled area which still retains the atmosphere of primitive charm.

The padres maintain a picnic grove along the river at the rear of the Mission, from which can be seen a beautiful view of the Santa Lucia mountains which surround the Mission on three sides. Visitors are invited to use the facilities without charge.

The Mission can be reached from the north by turning west off Highway 101 above King City, and from the south by a well-marked turnoff above Bradley through the Hunter-Liggett Military Reservation.

The K. Fillmore Grays On The East Coast

With a crowded itinerary ahead Rev. K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer and Mrs. Gray left Carmel last week for the east coast.

Making their headquarters Washington D.C., Dr. and Mrs. Gray will attend the General Conference of the Methodist Church, to be held in Pittsburgh, Pa., and will go on to New York City to visit he World's Fair.

On ay 24 Dr. Gray will deliver the baccalaureate address at Wasatch Academy in Mt. Pleasant, Utah where the Gray's son, Stanley is a member of the graduating class.

Stanley will return to Carmel with his parents and is planning to enter Stanford in the Fall.

News of A Carmelite in Lybia

Recently returned from Europe, Mrs. Leon Dassonville brought news of her daughter Nancy (Mrs. Robert Goss) whom she visited in Lybia. Nancy and her geologist husband, Mrs. Dassonville reports, are finding life in Tripoli exciting fun. Their four-year-old son David speaks English, French and the patois of the country — fluently with his parents racing to keep up. The young family's last holiday was spent in Florence, Italy and they are looking forward to their American leave not yet definitely scheduled.

Mrs. Dassonville flew over the North Pole and spent sometime touring southern Europe before she paid her visit to Nancy.

Salzburg, Carmel and Shakespeare

Mrs. Kay Chase will present a "request program" of colored slides with accompanying commentary and music, "Return to Salzburg," next Wednesday at Carmel Foundation Town House at two identical performances, one at 1:30 and one at 3, followed by tea.

Carmelites will be especially interested in the exhibit of programs and posters which are on display at Town House during May. "Shakespeare in Carmel" is the theme of the exhibit. Mr. Herbert Heron who directed many of the Carmel Shakespeare Festival performances has loaned the posters and programs. There was "Midsummer Night's Dream" in 1915, Romeo and Juliet in 1929, "Julius Caesar" in 1930, "Macbeth" and "Hamlet" in 1940. Anyone interested in the past glories of the Forest Theater and those who created it, are invited to come to Town House between 10 and 5 week days.
